EXTREME TENNIS PRO'S

Jason Gerardo, Gold Key Racquet Club

Jason Gerardo, born and raised in Arizona, was a top ranked junior in the Southwest and later went on to win the NJCAA National Championship. Jason has been working with beginners up to the professional level for past 15 years. For the past six years, Jason has trained with Nick Bollettieri and has been certified by his prestigious tennis academy. His junior's "Future Academy" is known for providing individual player attention. Jason shapes his teaching style with positive mental toughness, conditioning and the ability to develop player's strength to their full potential. In addition, he has developed a successful college placement program. Jason still competes in national and money tournaments to keep in shape mentally and physically.

Mardi Johnson, Gold Key Racquet Club

Mardi played tennis for Mesa Community College and ASU. She was a teaching assistant for John Newcombes Tennis Ranch in Texas and Head Pro at Alvamar Country Club in Lawrence, Ks. While teaching in Lawrence, Mardi obtained her Masters Degree in education, with a concentration in biomechanics from the University of Kansas. During this time she also co-authored and published a collegiate textbook for tennis. Upon returning to Phoenix in 1986, Mardi established a niche in tennis: bio mechanics of stroke production and women's doubles.

Kristy Erickson, Gold Key Racquet Club

Kristy was born and raised in Northern California. She was a ranked junior and trained as a junior at Nick Bollettieri's Tennis Academy in Bradenton Florida. Kristy continued to develop her tennis and played for Pepperdine University. She has been working with juniors and adults in Arizona and California for the past eight years and still competes in National Tennis Events.
